Award-Winning Ensemble, Lemon Bucket Orkestra, to Perform in Kelowna This Weekend

(Kelowna, BC) Toronto's original guerrilla-folk party-punk massive, Lemon Bucket Orkestra, are coming to Kelowna this weekend. The multi-award-winning ensemble has been heralded as a groundbreaking, genre-bending phenomenon by media and fans alike, and over the past 8 years have performed all over the world from WOMAD in New Zealand and Pohoda in Slovakia to Festival D'Été in Québec City, and Luminato in Toronto.

On Saturday, November 16 at 7 p.m., it's Kelowna's turn, as they bring their unique brand of music to the Mary Irwin Theatre inside the Rotary Centre for the Arts (421 Cawston Ave.)

Equal parts exhilarating precision and reckless abandon, LBO's live shows are a truly immersive experience - ranging from the ecstatic to the cathartic and all points in between. The Guardian proclaimed that their performances are "gorgeously sung and passionately played" and The New York Times declared them "charismatic...handsome and ambitious."

Tickets for Lemon Bucket Orkestra's Kelowna performance are available for just $30 and can be purchased here.

LBO's latest album is called If I Had the Strength. You can check out "Freedom" from the record, and get a taste of what Lemon Bucket Orkestra sounds like, in the video below.

Lemon Bucket Orkestra will perform at Kelowna's Mary Irwin Theatre on Saturday, November 16. To quote the Winnipeg Free Press, the experience will be: "Amazing, frenetic, gloriously anarchic and ultimately joyous!"
